Introduction

The way an organization interacts with its customer base directly affects its business growth. Satisfied customers not only visit back to make more purchases, but they also pass on positive recommendations to other prospective customers which improves the future scope of the sale.

Lately, the focus for a new generation of organizations has been on providing their customers with a differentiated experience- something that sets them apart from their competitors. Customer service excellence is becoming an important element in providing this experience.

Customer service excellence takes basic customer service up a notch and includes not only fulfilling the expectations of a customer but also exceeding those expectations. Organizations that strive for customer service excellence approach customers with a focused modus operandi of satisfying their customers.

Customer-focused organizations know that delivering excellence in service does not happen by accident. It requires careful integration of key factors that together set the company apart from competitors, win and retain profitable customers and attract, motivate, and keep the best staff. In this five-day program, delegates will learn the core practices and skills that successful businesses employ to consistently deliver world-class customer service experiences.
