Training Course: Document and Archive Management: Effective Strategies for Information Preservation

Training Course code: OM235445 From: 13 - 17 October 2025 Venue: London (UK) - Landmark Office Space
- Oxford Street Training Course Fees: 5500 € Euro

Introduction:

Effective management of documents and archives is fundamental for organizations aiming to preserve institutional knowledge, ensure regulatory compliance, and enhance operational efficiency. Document management encompasses the systematic handling of information throughout its lifecycle, from creation and distribution to archiving and disposal. Meanwhile, archiving involves the strategic preservation of records with historical, legal, or administrative value, employing methods that ensure accessibility, security, and longevity.

In today's digital age, the landscape of document and archive management has evolved significantly. Organizations face challenges related to the exponential growth of digital data, compliance with data protection regulations, and the integration of advanced technologies such as Electronic Document Management Systems (EDMS). Moreover, the shift towards remote work and virtual collaboration necessitates robust document management strategies that support seamless access to information across dispersed teams.

Throughout this training program, participants will delve into essential concepts, methodologies, and tools designed to equip them with the skills needed to effectively manage documents and archives in both physical and digital formats. By the end of the course, participants will be proficient in implementing best practices that promote organizational efficiency, compliance, and data security.
