Conference: Power, Influence, Politics and Negotiations

Conference code: CO8263 From: 10 - 14 February 2025 Venue: London (UK) - Landmark Office Space - Oxford Street
Conference Fees: 6000 € Euro

Introduction

This course focuses on developing personal leadership identity to enhance project success. It emphasizes leveraging interpersonal skills to positively influence others, even without direct control. Key topics include leadership traits, styles, and behaviors, along with their impact on motivation, team dynamics, and trust. The course also explores negotiation techniques, including influence tactics, personal power, and organizational politics, to secure project needs. Participants will learn to integrate these concepts to effectively lead projects while maintaining integrity.

Objectives

- Learn practical techniques to enhance their project leadership skills
- Exercise a wide range of concepts to enhance their power and ability to influence others
- Manage corporate politics at the project level as well as the senior management level
- Master forms of power and evaluate strategies to increase their total power to make a project succeed
- Identify principles, guidelines and common methods of negotiation on projects
- Develop negotiating strategies that focus on interests and common goals of projects instead of positions

Process

This five-day course is highly interactive and practical. It enables participants to develop effective project leadership, influence, and negotiation skills for immediate application. Using various case studies, diagnostic self-assessment questionnaires, role-playing activities and group exercises to consolidate learning, participants will have the opportunity to assess the relative impact of each and every aspect of course materials as they affect the human factors implicit in the project management.

Benefits

- Discovering their own unique leadership identity and learning how to project a more dynamic image
- Learning how to nurture and continue developing their leadership identity
- Becoming more politically astute while maintaining their integrity and ethics
- Fully understanding the range of skills and competencies required to influence and negotiate project needs more effectively

- Applying lessons learned to refine their skills in gaining and using influence positively
- Increasing levels of confidence in negotiating with project stakeholders
- Learning how to protect themselves against the pitfalls of intra-organizational politics

Results

Having highly competent employees with greater skills in working in the role of project leader

Developing and refining skills for project leaders which in turn raise their own capabilities and morale

Empowering project personnel to focus on practicing results-based leadership

Having equipped project team members to tackle negotiations in a more effective manner

Increasing ability to motivate, influence and empower others to meet project objectives
