Training Course: Recruitment and Selection: Methodologies & Techniques

Training Course code: HR3044 From: 3 - 7 August 2026 Venue: Madrid (Spain) - Training Course Fees: 5775 € Euro

Introduction

Recruitment and selection are among the most resource-intensive and strategically critical functions within Human Resources. Poor hiring decisions can lead to high turnover, reduced productivity, and significant financial loss, while effective recruitment practices directly contribute to organizational performance and long-term sustainability.

This program provides a comprehensive, modern approach to recruitment and selection by integrating competency-based frameworks, behavioral interviewing techniques, psychometric assessments, and assessment center methodologies. Participants will explore how to move beyond intuition-based hiring toward structured, evidence-based decision-making.

Through a blend of theory, simulations, and hands-on practice, this program transforms participants into highly competent recruiters and interviewers, capable of identifying high-potential candidates and making accurate, unbiased hiring decisions.

Program Objectives

By the end of this program, participants will be able to:

- Apply advanced interviewing techniques, including behavioral and targeted interviewing
- Evaluate different recruitment methodologies and their impact on hiring outcomes
- Utilize competency frameworks to distinguish top performers from average candidates
- Interpret and apply psychometric and personality assessment tools effectively
- Understand and apply Emotional Intelligence EI in candidate evaluation
- Design and implement assessment centers aligned with job requirements
- Develop persuasive communication strategies for recruitment campaigns
- Make structured, data-driven hiring decisions with reduced bias
