Training Course: Promoting Innovation in your Department

Training Course code: MA9343 From: 5 - 9 October 2026 Venue: Singapore - Training Course Fees: 6250 € Euro

Introduction

In today's rapidly evolving and competitive environment, innovation is no longer optional—it is essential for organizational growth, adaptability, and long-term success. Departments that foster innovation are better positioned to improve performance, enhance efficiency, and respond effectively to changing demands.

This program, developed by Global Horizon Training Center, equips participants with the tools, techniques, and leadership approaches required to build and sustain a culture of innovation within their departments. It focuses on practical strategies for encouraging creativity, managing change, and transforming ideas into actionable improvements.

Participants will learn how to create an environment that supports innovation, engage teams in creative thinking, and implement structured processes to drive continuous improvement and value creation.
