Training Course: Strategies for Automating Human Resource Systems and Their Impact on Organizations

Training Course code: HR235106 From: 23 - 27 August 2026 Venue: Sharm El-Sheikh (Egypt) - Sheraton Sharm Hotel
Training Course Fees: 4350 € Euro

Introduction

In today's digital economy, organizations are under increasing pressure to enhance efficiency, reduce operational costs, and make faster, data-driven decisions. Human Resource functions, traditionally characterized by manual and repetitive processes, are now undergoing a fundamental transformation through automation and digitalization.

This training program, designed by Global Horizon Training Center, provides a comprehensive framework for understanding how automation can be strategically implemented within HR functions. It goes beyond basic system usage to address process optimization, change management, data governance, and organizational impact.

Participants will explore how modern technologies—such as HRIS platforms, workflow automation tools, and analytics systems—can streamline HR operations, improve employee experience, and support strategic decision-making. The program also emphasizes the human side of digital transformation, ensuring that automation initiatives are successfully adopted and aligned with organizational culture and goals.

Program Objectives

By the end of this training program, participants will be able to:

- Understand the concept and strategic importance of HR automation
- Identify the benefits, risks, and challenges associated with automation
- Design and implement automation strategies across HR functions
- Select and utilize appropriate HR technologies and systems
- Analyze the impact of automation on organizational performance and productivity
- Apply best practices and learn from real-world case studies
- Support digital transformation initiatives with data-driven decision-making
