Training Course: Criteria for Measuring the Effectiveness of Human Resources

Training Course code: HR1971 From: 4 - 8 October 2026 Venue: Sharm El-Sheikh (Egypt) - Sheraton Sharm Hotel Training Course Fees: 4350 € Euro

Introduction

In modern organizations, Human Resources is no longer evaluated based on activities alone, but on its measurable contribution to business outcomes. The ability to quantify HR effectiveness has become a critical capability for organizations aiming to enhance performance, optimize workforce investments, and support strategic decision-making.

This program, designed by Global Horizon Training Center, equips HR professionals with the frameworks, tools, and analytical techniques required to measure, evaluate, and communicate HR impact. Participants will learn how to move from traditional HR reporting to data-driven HR management, linking workforce metrics directly to organizational success.

Through a structured approach combining KPIs, analytics, and reporting strategies, this course enables organizations to build transparent, performance-oriented HR functions that deliver measurable value.

Program Objectives

By the end of this program, participants will be able to:

- Understand the strategic importance of measuring HR effectiveness
- Identify and design relevant HR KPIs and metrics
- Develop and implement HR measurement frameworks
- Analyze HR data to support evidence-based decision-making
- Interpret workforce trends and performance indicators
- Communicate HR results effectively to senior stakeholders
- Use HR metrics to drive organizational improvement and change
