Training Course: HR - Managing the Training Function (Certified Training Manager)

Training Course code: HR3002 From: 31 August - 4 September 2026 Venue: London (UK) - Training Course Fees: 5775 € Euro

Introduction

This program, designed by Global Horizon Training Center, reflects the evolving role of training as a strategic driver of organizational performance.

Recent international developments have elevated training from a support function to a core business enabler, requiring measurable outcomes, strategic alignment, and value creation. Training Managers today must go beyond administration to lead, market, and optimize training functions using modern tools, data, and methodologies.

This program equips participants with the advanced skills needed to transform training into a results-oriented function, capable of demonstrating return on investment ROI, supporting business objectives, and driving organizational excellence. It also introduces the new leadership and consultancy competencies required to position the training function as a key strategic partner within the organization.

Objectives

By the end of this program, participants will be able to:

- Manage and optimize modern training functions effectively
- Understand and apply the strategic role of training within organizations
- Design and restructure training departments for maximum efficiency
- Develop and manage training budgets using modern tools and software
- Apply the Training Consultant approach to solve business challenges
- Evaluate training programs and demonstrate measurable added value
- Market the training function internally as a strategic business tool
- Develop training strategies aligned with organizational goals
