Training Course: The Training Analyst

Training Course code: HR3053 From: 21 - 25 December 2026 Venue: London (UK) - Training Course Fees: 5775 € Euro

Introduction

In today's performance-driven environment, training functions are no longer judged by activity levels but by measurable impact and business value. Organizations expect learning and development initiatives to directly contribute to productivity, capability building, and strategic outcomes. This has elevated the role of the training professional into that of a training analyst and performance consultant.

This program provides a comprehensive and practical approach to training analysis, measurement, and evaluation, equipping participants with the tools to assess training effectiveness, optimize learning investments, and demonstrate tangible results. It integrates modern evaluation frameworks, including models such as Kirkpatrick Model and ROI-based methodologies, enabling participants to transform training into a value-generating function.

Through real-world case studies, applied exercises, and analytical tools, participants will learn how to measure not only knowledge acquisition but also behavioral change, competency development, and organizational impact.

Program Objectives

By the end of this program, participants will be able to:

- Measure training effectiveness using advanced evaluation models
- Analyze training data to identify trends and performance gaps
- Design measurable training outcomes aligned with business goals
- Evaluate competency, behavior, and performance improvements
- Calculate training ROI and demonstrate financial value
- Apply analytical tools to improve training efficiency
- Transform training functions into strategic value contributors
