Training Course: The Business of HR

Training Course code: HR3027 From: 19 - 23 October 2026 Venue: London (UK) - Training Course Fees: 5775 € Euro

Introduction

In today's volatile and highly competitive environment, organizations are no longer relying solely on financial or technological advantages—human capital has become the primary differentiator. The HR function is therefore expected to evolve beyond administration into a strategic business partner that drives performance, innovation, and sustainable growth.

This program is designed to reposition HR as a value-generating function, equipping participants with the frameworks, tools, and strategic mindset required to align HR practices with business objectives. It focuses on how HR policies and interventions can directly impact organizational performance, cost efficiency, employee engagement, and long-term competitiveness.

Participants will explore the integration of leadership, performance management, behavioral competencies, workforce design, and employee relations, enabling them to transform HR into a measurable contributor to business success.

Program Objectives

By the end of this training program, participants will be able to:

- Position HR as a strategic driver of organizational performance
- Apply modern leadership styles to enhance employee productivity and engagement
- Design and implement effective recruitment and retention strategies
- Develop and measure performance management systems
- Utilize behavioral competency frameworks to manage talent
- Optimize work organization structures to drive innovation
- Apply principles of employee relations and motivation
- Enhance communication, consultation, and employee involvement strategies
