Training Course: Leading By Tasks

Training Course code: LS1040 From: 1 - 12 June 2026 Venue: London (UK) - Training Course Fees: 9450 € Euro

Introduction

The demands for skilled leaders and managers in today's business environment are more prevalent than ever. Leaders must exhibit self-confidence and have strong skills in both leadership and task management. These essential principles and skills are not inherent but must be developed through continuous learning, training, and hands-on experience. Building task leadership skills and practicing self-confidence are essential exercises for leaders to sharpen their ability to achieve goals and carry out responsibilities effectively.

This course aims to help participants develop their leadership abilities, increase their self-confidence, and improve task leadership skills to manage teams, handle priorities, and ensure productivity. It focuses on how leaders can manage multiple tasks, motivate their teams, and successfully execute change. Participants will leave the course with practical skills to apply in their day-to-day management roles.

Objectives

By the end of this program, participants will be able to:

- Develop the necessary skills to complete work on time and efficiently manage tasks.
- Project confidence and credibility to colleagues and team members.
- Speak confidently in groups to inspire and motivate others.
- Use basic planning and project management tools to strategize and complete work effectively.
- Develop leadership techniques to implement change successfully.
- Communicate assertively and effectively in meetings and presentations.
- Understand their personal work style and learn how to work interdependently with others.
- Manage change effectively, particularly in response to innovation and improvement.
- Build interpersonal relationships that enhance work productivity.
