Training Course: Business Development Management

Training Course code: MA234861 From: 8 - 12 June 2026 Venue: Singapore - Training Course Fees: 6250 € Euro

Introduction

In today's highly competitive and rapidly evolving business landscape, organizations must adopt structured and strategic approaches to sustain growth and remain relevant. The Business Development Management training program is designed to equip professionals with the critical competencies required to identify opportunities, build strategic relationships, and drive long-term business success.

This program follows a comprehensive three-stage business development framework:

- Pre-Sales Stage: Participants will develop a deep understanding of business models, market positioning, customer segmentation, and product portfolios both new and existing, enabling them to identify and assess growth opportunities effectively.
- Pitch Stage: The program focuses on mastering persuasive pitching techniques, negotiation strategies, and communication skills essential for influencing stakeholders, resolving conflicts, and building strong professional relationships.
- Post-Pitch Stage: Participants will gain advanced capabilities in account and program management, ensuring the sustainability of business relationships and maximizing long-term value creation.

By the end of the program, participants will be able to design and implement a comprehensive business development plan, analyze market dynamics, and proactively identify and capitalize on emerging opportunities.
