Introduction

To create high levels of customer satisfaction and achieve the organizational mission, organizations must become "One Big Team Working Together". Everyone must contribute to their ideas, working together as internal customers. This requires a radical shift in the "management" paradigm where leaders and professionals realize the importance of employee involvement in the management process i.e. the importance of encouraging and motivating employees to contribute their ideas as well as to harness the employees' potential, and adopt a major change of role.

In the post-Industrial "command and control" era, business demands a new breed of leader who couples technical skills with good people leadership - the ability to manage and motivate for excellence.

This seminar will enable the participants to:

- Manage and motivate their employees towards excellent performance.
- Learn to help their employees to harness their full potential towards excellence in the workplace.
- Understand employees' personal needs and motivate innovative thinking
- Apply knowledge of individual differences to motivate others
- Remove blocks to motivation and develop people skills to motivate others

Course Objectives

By the end of the program, participants will:

- Gain insights into their own strengths and weaknesses and leadership styles
- Be able to understand the emotional makeup of their teams, colleagues, and customers
- Have begun to develop leadership competencies and skills to motivate employees
- Understand and begin to practice innovative leadership
- Have built a foundation for continuous Improvement
- Be able to harness their employees' emotional intelligence to release creativity in the workplace
- Understand and practice key people skills to motivate towards excellence
