Training Course: Legal Analysis of Administrative Decisions

Training Course code: SC236433 From: 21 September - 2 October 2026 Venue: London (UK) - Training Course Fees: 10300 € Euro

Introduction

Legislation regulates and governs the functioning of society as a whole, including its individuals and various organizations. Drafting legislation is a sophisticated legal craft that is comparable to civil or architectural engineering. Just as an error in structural engineering may cause the collapse of an entire building, a mistake in legislative drafting may lead to serious organizational and regulatory problems affecting society or its institutions. Therefore, legislation requires precision, expertise, and careful wording to ensure clarity, legal certainty, and effective implementation without creating administrative or legal obstacles.

This training program is designed to provide participants with comprehensive knowledge and practical skills related to legislative drafting, the analysis of administrative decisions, and the formulation of regulations in accordance with modern legal and administrative frameworks. Through theoretical knowledge, case studies, and practical workshops, participants will learn how to structure legislative texts, draft clear legal rules, and evaluate administrative decisions effectively.

Objectives

By the end of this training program, participants will be able to:

- Acquire practical skills for drafting regulations and decisions in terms of structure and appropriate legal terminology.
- Develop essential skills in legislative drafting and constructing legislative sentences.
- Gain the necessary competencies for issuing decisions, legislative systems, and regulations in compliance with legal frameworks.
- Conduct in-depth analysis of commonly used legislative drafting expressions, including their advantages and disadvantages.
- Develop the ability to prepare well-structured and precisely drafted administrative decisions and regulations.
- Master techniques and concepts for drafting decisions, regulations, and administrative circulars through practical exercises.
- Understand how to evaluate and review the final drafting of administrative decisions and regulations.
- Practice real applications of legislative drafting for laws and administrative decisions.
- Analyze legal texts and administrative regulations to ensure clarity, consistency, and legal compliance.
- Strengthen participants' ability to draft professional legislative and administrative documents used in governmental and institutional environments.
